

US experts to probe weaknesses of PNP

By Gregory A. and Phyllis and Michael Stone

THE FBI is sending a team of experts to probe weaknesses in the Philippine National Police (PNP) as part of a $100-million aid package. The team, led by FBI Director Robert Mueller, will arrive in Manila next week. The experts will be looking for ways to improve the PNP's ability to handle crime and terrorism. The PNP is the largest police force in the Philippines, with over 100,000 officers. It has been criticized for its handling of the 1990s drug war and for its role in the 2001 election. The FBI team will be working with PNP officials to identify areas for improvement and to develop a plan to address these weaknesses.

LTRFB: No fare matrix, no fare hike

By Dennis S. Reyes

MANILA—The Light Rail Transit Franchise Bureau (LTRFB) has rejected the proposal of the Manila Light Rail Transit Authority (MLRTA) to implement a fare matrix and a fare hike. The LTRFB said the proposal is not in the best interest of the public and that it will continue to monitor the MLRTA's operations.

Angara eyes bill to assist troubled pre-need companies

By Michael A. Sautter

Sen. Michael A. Sautter, R-Idaho, is expected to introduce legislation that would help pre-need funeral home companies that are having trouble paying their bills. The bill would allow the companies to file for Chapter 11 protection and then to reorganize their debts.

For more information on pre-need funeral home companies, see page B1.

Oil prices ease below $59; market waits

Oil prices eased below $59 a barrel on Wednesday, as traders waited for news on the OPEC meeting in Vienna. The price of oil fell to $58.75 a barrel, down from $59.25 on Tuesday. The market was expecting a decision on whether OPEC would increase production to meet growing demand. The price of oil is a key factor in the cost of many goods and services. The market was also waiting for news on the US economy, as the Federal Reserve is expected to announce its policy on interest rates. SPECIAL THANKS TO THE COPIES OF THE COPIES

Win a date with Hale winners

CONGRATULATIONS to Janessa Aynon and JC Lee for coming out on top of the Win a Date with Hale contest. The girls, who won after writing a 12-line poem professing their admiration for the band, got a chance to have dinner at UCC Coffee during the Fête de la Musique with the chart-topping group.

"To meet, makeup like makeup. Singlet ko lang what it was like being their fan," said the 22-year-old Lee. "We just wanted to meet them so we would know what they were like," added Aynon.

The band, especially their vocalist, Champ Lai Pio was psyched to meet their big fan. "It's a big motivation for us that we affect people's lives," he said. Christian B. Bonifacio

Do you have what it takes to be the Philippine representative to the Hong Kong Tourism Board's Shopper of the Year contest?

If you answered yes to the questions posed above, then move fast and catch your breath for the wildest and most creative answer to the question, "Why should I be the Philippine representative to the Shopper of the Year contest in Hong Kong?"

All brave and fearless Pinay shopaholics, 18 and above, with Philippine passport, must send their answers along with a brief photo of a shopping moment (yes, that's you caught on film while shopping abroad) and their contact information (name, address and phone number) to e-mail to hkshoppingfest@perception.com by 11:59 p.m. of July 1, Friday.

From the entries, five lucky Pinays will get the chance to outsmart, outwit and outshop each other on an all-out, no-holds-barred local shopping competition that will prove, once and for all, the chosen one who eats, loves and breathes shopping.

Entries will be judged based on the following criteria: creativity and uniqueness (30 percent), content (30 percent), composition (20 percent) and impact (20 percent).

The lucky winner will walk away with a four-day, three-night trip to Hong Kong for two to participate in the 2005 Shopper of the Year contest, including return flight tickets and hotel accommodations, courtesy of the Hong Kong Tourism Board.

The 2005 Shopper of the Year contest requires each team to purchase one item from each of the four shopping themes, which are Fashion and Beauty, Jewelry and Watches, Consumer Electronics, and Chinese Traditions. Each team will also be given a digital camera to capture their shopping moments, and the newly introduced Photo Award will be given to the best team.

Now are you guys ready for this? What do you want to take home to Pinas if you win the grand prize in Hong Kong?

Everything that your heart desired! Round-trip tickets from Cathay Pacific, a two-night stay in a Grand Deluxe Harbour view suite, a buffet of Hong Kong, a Samsung Notebook and many more cool and exciting prizes await the lucky Shopper of the Year winner in Hong Kong.

So if shopping genuinely runs in your blood, expend all that furious energy and send in your answers now! Don't forget your photos, too!

Good luck and hail to Pinay shoppers everywhere!

Announcement of the Philippine representative to the Shopper of the Year Contest will be on July 13.

"Touch me not!": Unmasking the plight of female commuters

by Kenneth E. Meyer

Abstract. The authors report on an experimental investigation of the effects of a computer-based, self-paced, self-directed, and self-monitored training program on the performance of a simulated task. The program was designed to teach a specific task to a group of novices. The results of the study indicate that the program was effective in teaching the task to the novices. The program was also found to be more effective than a traditional classroom-based training program. The authors conclude that the program is a promising tool for training novices in a specific task.

A 1998 survey of 1,000 U.S. adults found that 60% of respondents had used the Internet at least once. The survey also found that 40% of respondents had used the Internet to look for a job, and 30% had used the Internet to look for a house. The survey also found that 20% of respondents had used the Internet to look for a date, and 10% had used the Internet to look for a car.

Patients with chronic heart failure (CHF) are at high risk of hospitalization and death. The purpose of this study was to evaluate the effect of a nurse-led, home-based intervention on the clinical outcomes of CHF patients. The study was a randomized controlled trial conducted in a tertiary care hospital. The intervention group received a nurse-led, home-based intervention, while the control group received standard care. The primary outcome was the rate of hospitalization, and the secondary outcome was the rate of death. The results showed that the intervention group had a significantly lower rate of hospitalization and a significantly lower rate of death compared to the control group. The findings suggest that a nurse-led, home-based intervention can improve the clinical outcomes of CHF patients.

There will, however, be a number of other factors that will influence the success of the program. For example, the program will be most successful if it is implemented in a way that is consistent with the existing culture of the organization. If the program is implemented in a way that is inconsistent with the existing culture, it is likely to be less successful. In the past few years, the U.S. has been the beneficiary of a number of new, innovative, and effective drugs. But the industry's record in the development of new drugs has been uneven at best. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has approved only 12 new drugs in the past 10 years, and the number of new drugs approved in 1997 was the lowest in 20 years.
